

Capstone Project. Week 4

Visiting a city it's often a matter of organization. With this project I want to use the example of Toronto to find different zones that can be visited in order optimize the trade off between interests, time and space.

The target audience of this project are tourist and travel agencies from all the world.

To solve this problem I will use the list of neighbourhoods of Toronto, latitude and longitude of each neighbourhood, venue data from Forsquare.